

BOSS MOXI BIO

Brisbane QLD

Recently returned from their indefinite hiatus, Brisbane's historic psych group, Boss Moxi nears the official release of their second studio album, 'Egotoxin'. Written in December of 2016 the new album was spearheaded by the band's remaining members, Brayden Doig, Dan Milad and new member / ex-Guttermouth drummer, Alex Flamsted. "Egotoxin" showcases the band's exciting new growth, in a both mature and interestingly disturbing version of their original jazz-grunge sound.

The 70 minute epic, 'Egotoxin' was brought to a sold-out Foundry for the first time in April last year (2017), as the band returned from an almost 3 year break. Following The Foundry in April, the live set was refined and officially showcased by the band at The Zoo in September later that year. With the album now recorded, Boss Moxi prepares for it's Australian release and an official return to capitol cities along the east coast with the full intention of taking the light show, actors and stage props on the road with them. After a solid 12 months the Boss Moxi psychedelic-rock opera and it's circus of collaborators plan to take the Egotoxin live show on tour in the later part of this year.

“ Boss Moxi are a band of contrast, of light and dark; each working part in service of the others. Boss Moxi's incubation sees them back stronger and tighter than ever. 4ZZZ
